Benny Bunny's & the Giant Vegetable Garden

When Benny Bunny tumbles into a hidden rabbit hole, he discovers a magical garden where vegetables grow taller than trees and butterflies can talk. With his new friend Wingela, Benny learns that curiosity and kindness can make the smallest seed bloom into something truly extraordinary.

A heartwarming story of friendship, wonder, and the magic of nature — perfect for young readers.

A Sunny Morning in the Meadow

Benny Bunny hopped happily
through the meadow,
sniffing wildflowers and
chasing butterflies.
He loved exploring, but today he saw something new
— a shiny patch of dirt that looked like a secret door.

The Fall into the Rabbit Hole

Curious Benny leaned closer... and slipped!
He tumbled and twirled down a deep, twisty tunnel.
"Whoa! Where am I going?" he shouted, giggling as he fell.

Meeting Wingela

Benny landed softly on a bed of moss.
Before he could stand up,
a huge, colorful butterfly
floated down.
"Hello, I'm Wingela!" she said with a laugh.
"Welcome to the Giant Garden!"

The Garden of Giants

Benny gasped. Around him were vegetables bigger than trees!

There were giant radishes, cabbages, eggplants, and shiny green capsicums as tall as houses.

Wingela Gives a Tour

"Come on, Benny!" said
Wingela, fluttering ahead.
She showed him a path made of carrot slices and puddles that smelled like mint.
Every leaf sparkled like it had morning dew forever.

The Talking Tomato Bush

Suddenly, a bush full of giant tomatoes started giggling.

"Watch where you hop, little bunny!" said the biggest tomato.

Benny laughed so hard he almost fell backward.

The Singing Beans

They passed a tall bean
stalk that hummed
softly.
The beans were singing
a cheerful tune about sunshine and rain!
Benny wiggled his ears
to the rhythm.

The Rainbow Pot

In the middle of the garden stood a giant clay pot as big as a house.

"This is the Heart of the Garden," whispered Wingela.

"It blooms with a rainbow flower every night."

The Blooming Night

As the sun set, the pot
began to shimmer.
A huge rainbow flower
slowly bloomed from it,
lighting up the whole
garden!
"Wow," said Benny. "It's the most beautiful thing I've ever seen."

The Vegetable Parade

When the rainbow flower bloomed, the whole garden came alive!
The tomatoes danced, the cabbages rolled, and the beans played their tune louder.
Wingela and Benny joined the fun as the Garden of Giants celebrated under the rainbow lights.

The Gift of Seeds

When the music faded, Wingela plucked one glowing petal and turned it into a tiny seed.

"This is for you, Benny," she said. "Plant it when you return home."

Back Through the Hole

A swirl of sparkles lifted Benny up, and he floated gently back through the tunnel.
"Goodbye, Wingela!" he called. "I'll never forget you!"

The Seed at Home

Benny woke up near his burrow.
He planted the tiny seed in the soft earth.
By morning, a small glowing sprout appeared — his very own piece of the Giant Garden.
